MORE ABOUT GILGAMESH
JAPAN HAS TROUBLES

THE FIELD Museum - Oxford University expedition in Mesopotamia find a tablet 4,000 years old, supplying 50 missing lines in the epic of Gilgamesh, who was to the literature of ancient Babylon what Ulysses was to Greece.

Some of his adventures suggest writings in the Old Testament, especially his escape from a great flood, like the one that threatened Noah.

AMONG northern peoples, the adventures of Beowulf suggest the career of Gilgamesh, but Beowulf's wildest achievements, including his swim of six days and nights in the ocean dressed in full armor, and his fights with marine animals, seem tame compared with the Gilgamesh career.

Primitive men were children, and all delighted in fairy stories, even when writing history.

TOKYO reports a new cabinet planned to suit the Japanese army, following the murder of the 77-year-old Japanese prime minister by young army officers.

The civil authorities of Japan dwindle in importance to infamously size when war begins, and must defer to army officers that deal directly with the mikado. The army feels that Japan is in his hands, and no civilian must interfere.

ON THE other hand, Japanese bonds and the yen drop, exchange markets of the world taking a cold view of patriotism in Japan. They know that Japan's army will fight magnificently, but know also that it would not be able to finance magnificently. If the army decides what is to be done and spent, the civilian government may find it difficult to pay the bills.

THE MONEY problems of Japan's civilian government may be complicated by news that Russia has called up four army classes, totaling 800,000 men, for immediate maneuvers.

A GERMAN expert warned the kaiser that attacking Russia was like fighting a feather bed. "The farther in you go, the more you smother," Japan may find a feather bed in China.

Manchuria reports that 35 Japanese prisoners have been massacred in the town of Hian and the town burned. The Chinese that killed the Japanese retreated after the massacre. Japan doubtless will avenge their deaths with many killings, but you cannot kill 400,000 Chinese.

HOAXER JAILED; MINISTER ALLY TO BE QUERIED

Clergyman says He's Willing to Talk to Norfolk Police

"JAFSIE" STILL AT WORK IN MYSTERY

Anonymous Letter, Received After Kidnaping, Is Revealed

(By Associated Press)
HOPEWELL, N. J., May 19.—John H. Curtis, jailed Lindbergh hoaxer today was exonerated of any connection with the actual kidnaping of the Lindbergh baby or collection of ransom, as New Jersey officials pressed plans for the questioning of his companion, the Rev. H. Dodson, as having flown to Hopewell on Peacock at Norfolk, Va.

The clergyman, revealed yesterday March 28 to request Col. Lindbergh to deposit $25,000 in a Norfolk bank as "earnest money" in connection with alleged negotiations with the kidnapers, declined to come to Hopewell, but said he would give all information to the Norfolk police.

Would Quiz Pastor

Gov. A. Harry Moore of New Jersey immediately announced he favored "sending someone to Norfolk to see what he has to say," and indicated a representative probably would be named by Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of state police. Col. Schwarzkopf said he was "very anxious" to confront Curtis with Peacock.

At the same time it was learned that ten days after the kidnaping an anonymous letter was received by Chief of Police William Walter of Trenton, directing that if the Lindbergh telephone wire was followed the baby and "the three other men" would be found.

It was recalled that special wires laid by police from the Lindbergh garage ran along the main road between Hopewell and Princeton, near which the body of the Lindbergh baby was found a week ago.

CITY REQUESTS $12,000 SHARE IN COUNTY'S FUND

Townships, Villages, Cities List Needs for Relief Activities

City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott, at a meeting of village, city and township representatives in Lisbon last night, filed a formal request that $12,000 be apportioned to Salem from the $114,300 to be obtained through a county relief bond issue made possible under Senate bill No. 4.

75 Attend Meeting

The meeting was attended by approximately 75 solicitors and township clerks. G. L. Laferly, assistant prosecutor, discussed a resolution passed by the county commissioners, declaring it necessary to issue bonds for the creation of a relief fund.

Bonds will be issued for a total of $114,300, part of which, however, will be needed to pay interest, leaving approximately $92,000 for apportionment among county subdivisions. The bonds will be retired from a new tax to be imposed on 31 public utilities with interests in Columbus county.

East Liverpool presented a request for $30,000 while other county subdivisions also filed estimates of needs for relief work among their unemployed.

Outline Program

Commissioners outlined a tentative plan whereby $36,000 is to be distributed among the county's 18 townships and a sum of $20,000 retained by the county. The remaining amount, $43,250, would be apportioned among cities and villages under this arrangement, which, however, is purely tentative, it is pointed out. A definite program will be worked out by the commissioners.

Span Approaches Will Be Improved

State Highway maintenance forces will pave the approaches to several bridges in the county where pavement construction was omitted when the bridges were built, on account of heavy fills. It was announced today by County Surveyor Lloyd C. Kirk.

These projects will include construction of north and south approaches to the new concrete bridge at Negley on State Route 170, and the north and south approach at the concrete bridge over Beaver creek at Fredericktown on the same highway. Similar improvement has been ordered at a new concrete bridge on State Route 45 between here and Salem.

Construction of these approaches will be done in halves, in order that through traffic can be maintained during the progress of the concrete work.

Stark County Relief Bond Issue Gets State Approval

Canton Wants $50,000, Alliance, Massillon $20,000 From Gas Tax

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, O., May 19.—Four bond issues for a total of $968,077, and gasoline tax diversion amounting to $30,936 received the approval of the state relief committee today. Stark county was granted leave to issue the maximum amount set aside for relief purposes, $334,977 in bonds. Clark county will issue $6,500 in bonds to purchase seeds for gardens and Shelby county was allowed to issue $25,000 in relief bonds.

The bond issues are authorized under the law providing a one per cent excise tax on public utilities for unemployment relief purposes.

Committee Named

A delegation from Stark county fixed its relief needs during the remainder of 1932 at $1,068,271. The delegation said the county had selected an executive committee to supervise the relief work and that it will control all expenditures in Canton, Alliance, Massillon, the townships and boards of education. Among those presenting the county's request for issuance of bonds were Paul Belden, Canton, chairman of the executive committee; Assistant County Prosecutor Huber J. Snyder, E. T. Bowman of the board of county commissioners; George O'Brien of the Alliance Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Jacob S. Coxey, Sr., of Massillon; D. W. Case, Massillon welfare worker; L. J. Smith, county superintendent of schools and A. B. Correll, representing the township trustees. Most of them are members of the county executive committee.

At the same time the Stark county group said it expected to present three applications for permission to divert local gasoline tax funds for relief purposes. The diversion to be asked is, Canton, $500,000 and Alliance and Massillon $20,000 each.

A bond issue of $601,600 asked by Franklin county was approved by the committee which at the same time allowed Knox county to divert $1,560 of gasoline taxes for the use of Clinton township.

The city of Middletown asked authority to divert $43,000 in gasoline taxes for relief purposes but the committee approved only $29,436 of that amount holding that the full sum sought was not available at present.

Zimmerman Wednesday afternoon under $2,500 bond for breaking and entering the poultry house of Frank Armstrong, Elkrun township, the night of May 11 and stealing 17 chickens, selling them to a dealer in East Liverpool for $15.75.

In default of bond he was committed to the county jail. Carson informed the court during his arraignment that he had "done time" in the Western penitentiary at Pittsburgh, Pa., for breaking and entering.

Toland Gilbert, who had been staying with Carson, and Earl Jones of Bloomfield addition, East Liverpool, were charged by Sheriff William J. Barlow as was Carson, and they entered a plea of guilty to the charge of breaking and entering. Their bond was placed at $2,000 each.

SMALL ARMY OF WELFARE AIDS CANVASS CITY

Preliminary Reports Imbue Drive Chiefs With Confidence

SCHOOLS TOPPING LAST YEAR'S MARK

Initial Reports to Be Submitted At Meeting Tonight

Confident that Salem will not fail in its 1932 Community Chest appeal, while cognizant of the fact, at the same time, that unceasing efforts by the fund solicitors and a generous, unselfish response by those able to give, will be necessary to win, 100 or more campaign workers today were deep in the task of raising $15,900, the quota for civic and welfare purposes of the city.

Optimism, despite adverse conditions this year, crept into the campaign early following reports from preliminary activities in connection with the drive.

Join "100 Per Cent Club"

More than 35 individual contributors joined the "100 per cent club", comprising those who are giving an amount equal to that which they contributed a year ago, when the first call was sounded at last night's meeting at the Memorial building. Many others will be added as the drive goes on today and tomorrow.

Supt. Earl S. Korr, heading the public school workers, announced that contributions to date from pupils and teachers represented a sum more than 70 per cent greater than school contributions a year ago. The school solicitation has not been completed.

Miss Esther Wilson, Salem City hospital superintendent, and her staff, as well as student nurses and employees are contributing approximately 10 per cent of their month's salaries, equal, it was announced, to about $200.

Details of the two-day campaign were mapped by executives and team captains and workers at last night's meeting. Cards and other equipment were issued for canvassing the city today. The work will be extended tomorrow into rural territories.

Will Scolds

HOLLYWOOD, CAL., May 19.—Well of all the fool things to hit the country in the face with is this guy's story. He was supposed to be a reputable business man. That should have been a tip-off to us right there, for there ain't no business now, so there can't possibly be any business man.

Then he was heartily endorsed by a preacher and an ex-admiral. Well we know neither a preacher nor a retired admiral is exactly a William Pinkerton.

Now you can't blame poor Lindbergh, for in his position he was grabbing at every straw. But the rest of us were just carrying out America's reputation for being—? Well add your own last word. Yours,

IS THERE A WAR DEBT ISSUE?

The discussion within the ranks of the 21 railway labor brotherhoods over a proposed war debt moratorium probably represents fairly public opinion on this vitally important matter. There is little possibility of agreement on the best way to settle the debts.

Certain facts are becoming so clearly evident, however, as to permit no confusion. One is that a world where everybody is eager to sell and no one is eager to buy is a world suffering from depression. Another is that there is just as much importance in the phrase, "business is business," as in the phrase, "a contract is a contract."

The United States, despite the fine protestations of its isolationists, needs Europe and European business if it is to maintain its cherished standard of living. It is not going to get that business by insisting on its legal right to take the pound of flesh that Europe promises it during the World war. It can choose between a policy of mutual helpfulness and sticking to the letter of the law.

A considerable group of labor has called on President Hoover to use the plan suggested recently by Alfred E. Smith to recapture foreign markets, or to prepare the government for labor's demand for a debt. The Smith plan would amortize the war debts gradually by deducting from them percentages of their total, in ratio to the value of goods purchased by debtor nations in the American market.

This is a proposal by labor—not a proposal by capital. It is a proposal which says plainly, "We know on which side our bread is buttered; we want the United States to recapture its foreign markets, even if we have to forget about the war debts to do it." When labor is willing to say that, even one relatively insignificant portion of labor, it begins to look like war debts were a popular issue. More to the point, it looks like the issue would be settled in a practical way.

What Others Say

MYSTERIES FOR FAGED BRAINS

The report that President Hoover is a mystery story enthusiast is hardly understood by the tens of thousands of persons who find complex puzzles prepared by the many able writers. It is said that the president buys several at a time. The mystery story has long been a great favorite and in recent years it has become one of the leaders in popularity. New technique has been introduced, and while there are still many trashy, stupid, mystery tales written, there is on the other hand a vast number of admirably written stories, excellently plotted and ingeniously developed.

When one is tired of the cares, worries and tribulations of everyday life, there is no better surcease than a good mystery novel. It enables one to shut the door of the mind against disturbing realities and take up a new and refreshing interest. Scores of men, high in business and professional life, enjoy the president's hobby. Even Justice Oliver W. Holmes professes a profound delight in this type of mental recreation. Parents may well bear in mind and not become worried when their boys show a decided preference for S. S. Van Dyne over the late lamented Mr. Shakespeare.—Ohio State Journal.

The Stars Say—

Friday, May 20

The lunar transits for this day may be said to assist those in the employment of others to positions of favoritism or preferment with their superiors. It is an auspicious time for seeking promotion or honors. Also, all labor, industry and faithful effort should thrive and find its reward in substantial measure. But make changes with due consideration and be on guard against fraud, misrepresentation or treachery from subtle sources. Gain from property is possible. Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of advancement, preferment or honors at the hands of employers or those in important positions or elders. It is a time for reaping rewards for diligence, fidelity and perseverance. But be careful as to change and be on guard against fraud, misrepresentation or secret enmity. A child born on this day may be industrious, persevering, practical and steadfast, and should gain favors from superiors and elders. It may have high ideals or unusual aims.

by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 19.—I have had several close-ups recently of that supreme and national idiosyncrasy known as marathon dancing. The dancers are fenced in on a smooth floor like so many side-show exhibits with a background of seats thrown up circus fashion. Some customers remain all night.

Out of 60 contesting couples at one dance in its 47th day, nine pairs were carrying on and one determined Italian, bald and grim, was solving it, having lost his partner. They are supposed to dance 45 minutes and rest 15 and are fed every three hours on a special diet. Nearly all gain weight, some ten pounds.

At rest intervals, they try to snatch 40 winds, receive rub downs and are aroused by a strenuous display of those standing the gaff are professionals, who have been in major events all over the country. Their dress is grotesque—pajamas, crazy patched overalls, shorts and sweaters bearing ails.

A middle-aged mother and her cake-eating son were among those striving for the $1,000 prize. There was a honeymoon couple, married the day of the start, a brother and sister and what the ballyhoos call "sweetheart couples." A duo of disgustingly unfunny comics heckled the dancers and otherwise make themselves a nuisance.

The greatest difficulty is after the rest periods. They come back to the floor in a desperate fight to remain awake. The one widest awake holds up the partner. After a time one of them is able to sleep soundly while the other acts as a support for a drag around the floor.

The soloist had reached the point of napping on his feet and waking himself by the sensation of falling. At intervals a master of ceremony introduces participants and calls upon them for "stunts"—clogging, singing, etc. The audience is supposed to shower change.

The ace of tony apartment houses is the cream-colored structure, flush on the East River with a bleak vista of Welfare Island's prison yard, known as No. 1 Sutton Place. It is 100 per cent cooperative and the selective process for tenants is strictest in town. The building was sponsored by John D. Rockefeller's son-in-law, David Milton Yachts, none up to tenants' back doors.

Until two years ago, major circuses exploited a "cigarette fiend" in side shows. He was usually cadaverous, hollow-eyed, pasty and dressed in black tights. For many years the horrible example was exhibited in New York on account of the snickers. This amusement eventually spread to the outland and the "cigarette fiend" was withdrawn.

Thingumbobs: Tom Killilea, circus press agent, was once Irvin Cobb's office boy. Winnie Sheehan's eyelashes reach clear out to here. Lupe Velez is the Rialto's newest wild cat temperamentally. Don Herold has had asthma so long he is used to it. The cowboy, Will James, is afraid of revolving doors. Roxy carries change in a snap purse. Gilbert Miller walks around pavement gratings. George Gershwin is learning to paint. Blanche Ring plays expert poker.

Sponsored Garner

To Matt W. Jure (above), of Fort Worth, Texas, belongs the distinction of having been the man who threw Speaker John N. Garner's hat in the Presidential ring. As president of the Texas Veterans' Association, Jure sponsored a resolution favoring Garner immediately after the popular Texan had been elevated to the position of Speaker of the House.

Peggy Jjoyce is frequently squired by five gallants. Harry Hershfield has been white-haired since 16.

There is a sober intensity about movies as presented at a self-effacing cinema called The Cameo in W. 42d street. There are none of the humorous ingenuities of Krazy Kat or Jimmy Durante. But instead, films from Soviet Russia, travel expeditions into forgotten lands, etc. Its audiences are mostly intellectuals.

Oddly enough, New York, save on the Bowery and in psychopathic wards, rarely reveals a "periodical drinker." In small towns where I have lived were always one or two men of respectability on hi-lones. They drank themselves into deliriums bordering on the horrors for weeks at a stretch and as suddenly returned to complete sobriety a little pale, enormously ashamed.

I am able to recall my first intoxicating drink—a glass of beer. The emptied glass was placed back on the mahogany with a lip smack and sleeve swipe as my father popped glowering through the swing doors. The ominous quiet before the cyclone. And I was yanked by the collar down the main street, walking Spanish. That evening I was given $20, along with the suggestion travel broadened the mind. And Plattsbury, Missouri's, loss was Dayton Ohio's gain.

Your Health And Weather.

Changing weather conditions of the different seasons have a powerful influence on the comfort and well-being of a large number of apparently healthy individuals.

Even the strongest of human beings are susceptible to the weather.

Summer with its high temperature and great humidity, plays havoc with many a strong man, but there are others who endure the Summer heat with remarkable fortitude.

They claim they never feel as well as when the temperature rises well into the eighties. The excellent elimination through the skin which accompanies free perspiration is undoubtedly the reason for this happy state.

Then again there is a fairly large class of people who say they never feel well during the cold Winter months. They shiver and shake when they are exposed to the cold, and very often their discomfort causes them to take refuge in close, over-heated rooms. This practice is most harmful, and renders suffering acute when they are forced to go into the outer air again.

A sluggish circulation of the blood, often associated with anemia or with a system below physical par, is frequently at the bottom of the trouble. Incorrect diet is another very common cause.

In Winter, heat-producing foods are required. A diet which may ordinarily meet the requirements in warm or temperate weather is inflammation of cold weather.

Heat-producing foods are fats, grain foods and sugars. Oatmeal with cream and sugar for breakfast, bacon and eggs, and a cup of cocoa instead of tea or coffee, make a good start for a cold day.

A salt water sponge daily, followed by energetic friction with a rough towel, is an excellent means of stimulating the circulation of the blood. Setting-up exercises after the bath are most healthful, and a daily walk in the open air has a powerful influence for good.

A common ailment of those with poor circulation is chilblains. A chilblain is a local congestion of the skin, usually on the feet or hands, and sometimes the nose.

This congestion is followed by inflammation of the affected part, and sometimes by a skin eruption. On entering a warm room from the outer cold, one should never approach a fire. If the hands or feet feel cold and numb, they should be sponged with cold water.

To escape the discomfort of chilblains, shoes should be large, and the feet should be well protected by suitable stockings. Tight garters should not be worn, as they interfere with proper circulation of the blood. Measures to improve the general health should be taken.

Even with the advent of warm weather the inflamed tissues cause discomfort. An application of iodine in colloid form will protect the sore spots and reduce the inflammation.

man of the campaign, presided at the opening meeting.

He presented Clifton Reeves, vice president of the Mullins Manufacturing corporation last year's chairman, who lauded the work of the organization in the 1931 campaign and predicted the same loyalty, cooperation and success for Chairman Bunn.

The whole civic and welfare program of the city is at stake in this drive, Earl S. Kerr, emphasized, as he pointed out that the predominating motive of the plan was to help those who, through unfortunate circumstances are unable to help themselves.

Ira F. Mellinger of Leetonia, who has aided the welfare drive in many ways, appealed to the "brotherhood of man" in completing the humanitarian project before the workers.

He discussed each of the seven organizations benefiting from the campaign fund, emphasized their usefulness and importance to the community at large and called for mankind to aid mankind.

Outlines Duties

Duties, in general, of the teams were briefly outlined in a talk by Atty. L. P. Metzger who expressed confidence that the quota would be reached, basing his opinion on the large amount of preliminary work that has been accomplished.

Expressions of confidence were voiced by Atty. C. T. Brooks of Cleveland and Salem, and Rev. F. M. J. Casey, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic church, as they stressed the importance of the program.

Initial reports of the campaign will be submitted at tonight's meeting of the team workers.

AMELIA

ASSISTANCE FROM HUEY

BULLETIN

(By Associated Press)

HASBROUCK HEIGHTS, N. J., May 19—Amelia Earhart Putnam took off from Teterboro airport today for Harbor Grace, N. F., on the first leg of what she hopes will be the first solo flight by a woman across the Atlantic. The takeoff was at 2:16 p. m. eastern standard time.

Tomorrow night, weather permitting, she plans to soar out over the ocean to follow along the perilous path through the skies she helped to break four years ago with two male companions—the first woman to fly across the Atlantic.

Her take-off today was unannounced. She is flying a fast Lockheed monoplane with a cruising radius of 3,200 miles.

After she had gone, her husband, George Palmer Putnam, publisher, who was her manager when she flew with Wilmer Stultz and Lew Gordon in 1928, was asked her destination.

"You name it," he said. "Dry land, that's all."

Mrs. Putnam's plan was to stop at St. John, N. B., for the night, but it was said she might push on to Harbor Grace.

She was accompanied on the first leg of her flight by Bernt Balchen, who piloted Admiral Richard E. Byrd over the South Pole and who has prepared her monoplane for the flight, and by Eddie Gorsk, an airplane mechanic.

NILES, Mich.—Captain William Twogood, 77 years old, operator of a fleet of boats on the St. Joseph river, was buried recently, after sleeping over his own coffin for eight years. Twogood, who died after a short illness, had the coffin built in 1924 and stored under his bed.

EDMORE, Mich.—As the owner of "Late," at 37-year-old horse, W. B. Emery, of Edmore, claims he has the oldest horse in the world. Emery bought "Late" 32 years ago, and has been working the horse on his farm ever since. "Late" has a strong aversion for motor cars, according to Emery.

"THE FAMOUS FERGOUSON CASE" plays today at the State theater.

Joan Blondell, Vivienne Osborne, Kenneth Thompson and Leslie Fenton play important roles in this story of a real murder trail. A murder—mystery—clues—here, there and yonder, and a swarm of newspaper reporters and cameramen following them up like bloodhounds—girl reporters, men reporters, a boy reporter who shows up his seniors like nobody's business—a love story that sends a lump into your throat but sets your heart singing—these are just a few of the ingredients of the film.

COMING ATTRACTIONS show "When a Feller Needs a Friend" as the State's feature Friday and Saturday. Jackie Cooper and "Chic" Sales star in this film taken from the novel "Limpy."

The phenomenal ability of this youngster never seems to reach a limit. Since he first captured the affections of every moviegoer in "Skippy" and most recently in "The Champ," it has been expected that he would not be able to equal these performances. Jackie has never been more powerfully presented than in his role of Limpy. As a crippled boy who develops an inferiority complex through being forced to live a sheltered existence, he far outdoes any previous portrayal. The boy handles his role with the polish and emotional interpretation worthy of a performer many years his senior.

Charles "Chic" Sales gives one of the most entertaining "old man" characterizations of his career. Uncle Jonas, in his sincere efforts to help Jackie, won the heart of the audience in the earliest sequences of the production.

Curtis Clears Up Reference to Persons Referred To In Confession

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, May 19.—References in the Lindbergh confession of John Hughes Curtis to two men not fully identified were cleared up today.

In explaining his claim he had been offered money for his "knowledge of the Lindbergh case of pictures of the baby," Curtis said:

"Mr. Twin and Fox offered me money."

Although the identity of the "Mr. Twin" was not known immediately, the "Fox" reference was generally interpreted as referring to the Fox Film company. The Fox Film company is in no way involved and this correction is emphasized.

Today Sam Fox, a Norfolk (Va.) photographer, said he had acted for a news photograph syndicate in offering Curtis $2,000 for exclusive pictures of the Lindbergh baby, and for enabling him to photograph the baby before anyone else.

To which, he said, Curtis replied:

"It is hard for me to say at this time what I can do."

P. E. Turin, manager of the advertising board of the Norfolk-Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce, said he had made no offer to Curtis, but that the shipbuilder had broached to him, as manager of the Norfolk-Portsmouth news bureau, suggestions of remuneration for information concerning his negotiations.

KIDNAPING TALE IS FOUND FAKED

Scranton, Pa. Man Admits Story of Capture As Being "Imagined"

(By Associated Press)

SCRANTON, Pa., May 19.—A homesick young man who ran away last September after financial reverses admitted to police today that a fantastic kidnapping story, with which he hoped to disguise his movements was purely imaginative.

J. Drew Fague, 31-year-old justice of the peace and former Democratic nominee for congress, confessed that he wrote the ransom demands his wife recently received and that he applied the adhesive tape which bound his mouth and hands when he was found lying beside a highway yesterday.

He related, after hours of questioning, that he left his home near Williamsport last Sept. 17, intending never to return. He made his way to New Orleans, working enroute, shipped aboard a fruit boat to Colombia, and returned to Boston last month.

The desire to see his wife and his home again became over-powering. He returned to Pennsylvania and early this month sent Mrs. Fague "ransom letters" from Reading, Bloomsburg and Plymouth.

Tuesday he decided to go home, he said, and taped himself up to give credence to his story of having been kidnapped.

Authorities said no charges would be made against him.

Robbers Free Bank Cashier

Roll of Nickels Presented Him As "Carfare" Souvenirs of Capture By Bandits

BINFORD, N. D., May 19.—Several rolls of nickels, given him for use as "car fare back home," were held as souvenirs today by Chester Doolittle, Ipswich, S. D., banker released near here after being kidnapped by four robbers.

Doolittle, cashier of the bank of Ipswich, 175 miles south of here, was taken along for "protection" by the robbers after they had shot H. Plin Beebe, president of the bank, and escaped with $4,500 cash and $17,000 in registered bonds.

The cashier was blindfolded and bound shortly after being taken from the bank in the morning and ten hours later he was dumped out of the car at a farm six miles west of here. Just before they released him, the men gave him the nickels.

Doolittle soon freed himself, hailed a motorist and notified Binford authorities. Except for being hungry and tired, he was none the worse for his long ride, he said.

She Reduced 38 Pounds The Safe Way

"I have been taking Kruschen Salts for 1 month and I think they are wonderful. I am 32 years old and 5 ft. 2 in. tall. I was very fat. I weighed 165 lbs. and now I weigh 127 lbs. and feel fine. If I let up taking the Salts one morning I feel lazy and heavy." Mrs. Florence Loftus, Boston.

This is just one of hundreds of letters we get every month—Kruschen not only causes you to lose fat but while you are losing it you gain in health—in vivaciousness—you lose fat where fat is most prominent and at the same time keep stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels functioning naturally.

Lease Drug Co., and Broadway Lease Drug Store or any drugstore in the world will sell you a jar of Kruschen for a trifling sum—take one-half teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning—go light on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets. But for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts—imitations are numerous. It's the little daily dose that does it. Adv.

HARDWARE UPSETS LEGION FOR 4TH STRAIGHT LEAGUE VICTORY

TWO-RUN RALLY IN SIXTH WINS THRILLING TILT

Three Homers Feature Struggle; Vets Drop Back to 3rd Place

WATKINS SHUTS OUT COX STUDIOS, 6-0

Errors by Losers Assist Foremen's Club Team To Easy Victory

The Salem Hardware registered its fourth consecutive softball league victory Wednesday at Centennial park, ending the three-game winning streak of the American Legion team with a 4-2 victory in one of the most thrilling games of the early season schedule.

Hardware Tops League
The Hardware now holds the pole in the league title race with four wins against no defeats, sharing the perfect average honor with the United Clgars who have registered two victories in as many starts. The Legion post, formerly tied for first, dropped back to third ranking.

A two-run rally in the sixth inning brought victory to the Hardware after legionsnaires had failed to take advantage of several scoring opportunities. Two runs were lost when Everett Rich, scoring ahead of George Emery in the third on a double by Joe Kelley, was declared out, retiring the side, when he failed to touch third base.

Three of the 13 hits registered during the game were homers by M. Schuller of the Legion and P. Sanders and M. Sattick of the winners.

Mullins Wins, 6-0
The Mullins Foremen's club, with Sam Watkins back on the firing line, scored a shutout victory over the Harold Cox Studios. Watkins pitched brilliantly, allowing but two hits. Six errors helped the Foremen's cause along.

Church league games, four of them, will be played at the park field this evening.

Both diamonds will be used with St. Paul's Catholics meeting Emanuel Lutherans and Trinity Lutherans playing the First Methodists in openers promptly at 6.

Baptists play the Christians and Presbyterians oppose the Friends in second games.

Marietta Will Battle for Rowing Honors on Saturday

When the Marietta college varsity and eight oared shells match their skill and brawn against the giants from the Universities of Pennsylvania and Wisconsin Saturday at Marietta, will there be a repetition of Biblical history? Marietta College boasts a total enrollment of 351 students against 15,000 for Pennsy and 10,000 for the Badgers. But Marietta also boasts the splendid Muskingum and Ohio Rivers which permit open water training most of the year. And a crew squad turning out which rivals that of many a larger college in both size and earnest determination.

Last spring this same diminutive Marietta almost scared the life out of the famous Washington Husky eight from the Pacific Coast by a terrific thirty six stroke which came within inches of victory and made Washington establish a new rowing record for two miles.

After all, it only takes eight men in a boat and the sheer grit and determination which comes from knowing being the under dog may not only afford a great thrill to thousands of spectators, but may win a race.

Saturday, at 2 p. m. will see the start of the titanic struggle. The first race, between 150 lb. crews from the three schools will be followed by the main event—the varsity race. Both races will be followed by the bleacher equipped observation train—with seats for 3000 yelling cheering spectators.

NEW YORK TEAM CAPTURES NINTH STRAIGHT GAME

Babe Ruth Ends Pitchers' Battle with Home Run In Tenth Inning

CHICAGO ADVANCES TO FRONT IN RACE

Grove's Hurling, Hitting of Foxx, Dykes, Simmons Aids Macks

(By Associated Press)
Returns from the year's first inter-sectional strife were at hand today, and the only outstanding beneficiaries of the movement appeared to be the Chicago Cubs in the National league, the New York Yankees in the American.

Yanks Take Lead
By sweeping all nine engagements with western invaders, the Yankees are in first place. The Cubs, winning eight of 12 from the National league's eastern delegates, likewise entrenched themselves at the top.

Cincinnati's Reds with wins and five losses at home, and the Philadelphia Athletics, with seven victories against four defeats, were the only other teams to show a substantial profit.

Washington failed to fatten its standing, losing their last four straight to St. Louis. The Senators are now a game and a half out of first place.

The Yankees terminated their remarkable streak by nosing out Cleveland, 3 to 2, on the strength of Babe Ruth's smash into the bleachers in the tenth inning.

Browns Trim Senators
Washington bowed to the Browns, 11 to 7, in a slugfest that produced 33 hits and used up four Washington pitchers.

Lefty Grove's pitching and home runs by Foxx, Dykes, and Simmons featured the Athletics' parting lick at Detroit. The score was 8 to 2.

Smead Jolley's hitting helped the Boston Red Sox break a six-game losing streak at Chicago's expense 13 to 10.

Bill Clark, Brooklyn southpaw, checked in the day's best performance in the National league when he beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 2, in four hits.

Giants Upset Reds
A big seventh inning in which they scored seven runs and knocked St. Johnson from the peak gave the New York Giants a 9 to 3 victory over Cincinnati.

Charley Grimm continued his batting rampage as the Cubs took their final from the Phillies 6 to 4. Led by Wally Berger, the Boston Braves defeated St. Louis, 5 to 3. The veteran Tob Zachary held the champions to five hits.

Harris Pitches No-Hit Game

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, May 19.—After 15 years of tossing in major and minor league parks, Bryan "Slim" Harris has joined the no hit, no run immortals of baseball.

The veteran St. Paul moundman checked in with his brilliant performance yesterday by victimizing the Kansas City Blues.

He faced only 28 men in 9 innings—three batters worked him for passes but only one had the privilege of dying on base as the other two were escorted quickly to the bench via double plays. Yes, St. Paul won the game, 9 to 0. The Saints rocked Tony Fette for 15 hits.

Harris has been pitching since 1918. He hurled for the Philadelphia Athletics, later going to the Boston Red Sox and then to St. Paul.

Big Ten Golfers Clash for Title

Finland's Racing Star Is Married

ABO, FINLAND, May 19.—Paavo Nurmi will have more than the glory of Finland and a stop watch to spur him on when, and if, he competes in the Olympic games this summer at Los Angeles.

The flying Finn will receive added inspiration from pretty Sivi Laaksonen Nurmi, one of Abo's favorite daughters, to whom he was married quietly yesterday.

The marriage is not expected to interfere with Paavo's plans to compete in the Olympics if the International Amateur Athletic federation can persuade to lift his suspension from the amateur rank.

There has yet been no indication the I. A. A. F. will relax in its stand, despite the threat of a Finnish boycott of the games unless Nurmi is re-instated.

"I'm here to speak up for the LADY DRIVERS"

.. "they know their groceries and their gasoline"

says FLOYD GIBBONS

Hello everybody. Shall we join the ladies?

I've got a particular personal reason for joining 'em right now. When it comes to making a dollar strut its stuff in the marketplace, they sure know how to say "Stand and deliver!" Naturally when I sailed back into this well-known birthplace of Presidents and heat-tempered motor fuels to discover, reporter-wise, whether Sohio X-70 and its peppy sister Sohio Ethyl could be as good as various extremely impressive birthday demonstrations had got me to believing... naturally I wanted to hear what the ladies thought.

Lend me a minute and an ear, citizens of Sohioland, while I tell you about it. It was an appeal to headquarters, to the great Buckeye purchasing department. The logical first step in finding out if our heat-tempered Sohio gasolines were living up to promise under the test of a year's actual grind on the road.

The testers of heat-tempered gasolines—all of them that I've seen and listened to—came through smiling. The Ohio girls said things like this: "Heat-tempered gas doesn't cost any more than plain gas, but it's so much better than the rest!" And this: "The red, white and blue on Sohio pumps means freedom from repair bills." And this: "Quick pick-up, zip, pep, get-you-there-fast and get-you-back-safe—that's what I buy when I buy Heat-tempered Sohio!"

And it's not guessing, and it's not hypnotism. The ladies—bless 'em!—they know their Sohio just as well as they know their vegetables. I heard one say: "I'll always try any new thing that sounds as if it'd be kind to the budget. Heat-tempered Sohio certainly does produce extra and livelier miles to the gallon. One solid year of day-after-day driving in all kinds of weather on all sorts of roads has proved it to me beyond the last shadow of a doubt. I don't 'shop' for gas any longer. The Sohio pump is my pump, every time!"

To me, all this means a whole lot. They're skeptical by nature and training, these women folks. Husbands can pull that line about sitting up with the sick friend, and they'll register starry-eyed attention. But they know!

And when the ladies tell me, straight from the budget out, that good old Heat-tempered Sohio does exactly what the little old Standard Oil Company of Ohio says it ought to do—well, case closed!

So's this report. I was going to tell you about a swell Sohio ride I had the other day here in Sohioland behind heat-tempered Sohio—a thriller. But it looks like I'm crowding my own signature cut this minute. So—next time.

Floyd Gibbons

Fast talkers get together... When Gibbons crashed the gate at women's clubs, he found that women drivers had a mighty interesting viewpoint on gasoline that hadn't occurred to him before... "gave me the idea for this ad" says Floyd.

"I just work here," laughs Floyd as he asks two attractive motorists what luck they've had with Sohio's heat-tempered gasolines. On his recent visit Floyd talked things over with motorists all over Ohio.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

Copyright, 1931, by Covi-Friede Inc., distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, night club habitue, receives a death threat, New Year's Eve. Previously her dog and parrot were mysteriously killed. Detective Attorney Merle K. Dougherty suspects Lola of being the "brains" of the jewel thief ring that has baffled the police. Although her husband, Gaylord Gifford, died practically penniless, Lola lives in luxury. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt places a guard in Lola's penthouse apartment, warning her that she must not be alone in a room at any time. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, Chung the butler, Eunice the maid, and Vincent Rowland, an attorney, are present. In the living room, the Commissioner finds a bag belonging to Christine Quires, Lola's guest. It evidently had been used that night, yet Lola informs Colt that Christine is at the Lion's Paw, a roadhouse, where Lola was to have joined her. Colt is surprised to find Mrs. Carewe's room in strange contrast to the surrounding wealth. Lola's own boudoir is a gaudy contradiction of the living room's elegance. Lola refuses to reveal the identity of the young man whose photograph adorns her dresser. Against orders, she enters the guest room alone. A scream follows. Rushing in, Colt finds her on the floor, unconscious. Dr. Hugh Baldwin, a friend diagnoses the case as a heart attack.

CHAPTER NINE

Colt, who had stood with folded arms and knitted brows, turned to the butler, and unexpectedly asked: "Chung, do you know if Miss Lola Carewe was right-handed or left-handed?"

"Right-handed," answered Chung with prompt and urbane assurance. "I am left-handed. That makes me observe other people's hands. Miss Lola was right-handed."

At a word of dismissal from Colt, the butler then left, closing the door after him.

Doctor Baldwin looked at Thatcher Colt with a speculative air as if that last question has caused him to doubt the Commissioner's intelligence. Dougherty and I were equally puzzled. But Colt did not leave us long in doubt.

"I am concerned," he declared "about her bathrobe."

"What about it, Thatcher?" asked Dougherty, moving forward with a vague glance at the garment.

"The way it is buttoned, for one thing."

"Buttoned?"

Both Dougherty and I looked again at the dressing-robe, as did the now deeply mystified and nervous Doctor Baldwin. None of us noticed anything peculiar about the way it was buttoned.

"You see for yourselves," pursued Colt, "it is a double-breasted dressing-robe buttoned on the right side. We all know when a man puts on any kind of garment, he buttons it invariably on the right side. The important thing is that women always reverse the procedure. It has been my experience that no woman ever buttons her coat, pyjamas or other apparel from left to right, unless the buttons on the left side have been torn away or if she is left-handed. Chung says that Lola was right-handed. Look at her coat."

Colt's acute observation had indeed found here a singular variation from the normal. Lola's body was sheathed in a bath-robe buttoned after the manner of a man.

Dougherty gave a low gasp. "I see what you mean. Perhaps it was put on her by someone else. And someone else made the natural mistake of reversal because he was facing his victim! But why, Thatcher, why?"

"Victim! I've heard enough of this talk!" exclaimed Doctor Baldwin. "What is going on here? It all seems very peculiar."

Thatcher Colt regarded the physician with a stern gaze.

"Doctor Baldwin," he began, "you have given it is your opinion that Lola Carewe is suffering from a heart attack. And yet—if you will pardon a layman's groping—in a heart attack the patient invariably feels suffocated and flushed. Am I not right, doctor?"

"Absolutely right!" agreed Baldwin, with an aggrieved glare. He had paled noticeably.

"Yet again," pursued the chief "here we find a girl supposed to have a heart attack, but clad in a warm robe, and in an apartment that is noticeably overheated. That I agree with you is peculiar."

"Perhaps," admitted the physician with a grudging air.

"Further," pursued Colt, "that livid glow on the face which is visible even under this girl's make-up—is that curious coloring a symptom of heart trouble?"

"Chung, do you know if Miss Lola Carewe was right-handed or left-handed?"

"Not a common one, but—"

"It might be a suspicious factor, mightn't it?"

Baldwin's pallor deepened.

"Suspicious?"

"Is it not true," prodded Colt, "that in certain types of poisoning, this flush appears?"

The strong fingers of Doctor Baldwin's great right hand tightened around the frail wrist in his grasp.

"Mr. Commissioner, I must insist upon knowing if there is any reason for these suspicions?" he demanded.

"The color!" prodded Colt impatiently. "Isn't it possibly a symptom of poisoning?"

The physician hesitated then barked his reply.

"It is one of the phenomena of carbon monoxide poisoning—but wouldn't that be impossible here?"

There followed a long ominous silence. Doctor Baldwin stood unmoving and speechless, as no one replied to his question. Then the physician heaved a deep and resigned sigh. With an air of finality, he let Lola's wrist fall from his hand down to the bed, lifelessly.

In less than a minute I was back with the detective who looked with solemn eyes at the unmoving body on the bed.

"Mackenzie," ordered Colt in a brittle voice, "get under this window. See what you can find that might have been thrown from this window. Look for broken glass—anything."

"Right away, chief"—and Mackenzie was gone.

"What is that for?" asked Doctor Baldwin vaguely.

"You say it's heart-trouble. I don't believe it. I believe it's poison. By that I mean it's murder—and I'm going to proceed accordingly."

At these words from Thatcher Colt, I was suddenly conscious of the solemn situation in which we found ourselves. The woman who had appealed to us for protection now lay dead at the feet of the Police Commissioner. Not all his care, his guards and admonitions, had served to avert her mysterious fate. At the hour named, Lola Carewe had died—on schedule! Colt was right—it could not be a coincidence.

Dougherty clasped his fat red hands behind his back and stalked over beside Colt. Instinctively, I too moved back from the bed, leaving the physician and the Police Commissioner standing face to face. Baldwin spoke first, his words coming unsteadily as if the intensity of Colt's gaze unsettled him.

"If what you say is true, a police autopsy should be performed," announced Baldwin throatily. "My personal belief is that this is a case of heart failure. But after the insinuations voiced here in the last ten minutes, I must insist on a medico-legal verdict—after a complete autopsy."

And the physician wiped his forehead with a large, silk handkerchief.

"It will take more than an autopsy," declared Dougherty, "to solve all the mysteries of this woman's death."

"I am going to ask you to remain here, doctor," snapped Thatcher Colt briskly, "until the Medical Examiner arrives. Mind?"

"Quite all right, sir."

As the doctor turned from his bag to reclaim his hat, I saw Colt bend swiftly over the bed, lift a gleaming object from the bag, unobserved by Baldwin, and put it away in the breast pocket of his coat. A moment later he calmly turned and asked the medical man to wait in the living-room and quietly closed the door upon him.

Hub Ex-Mayor in Blackface

Apparently inspired by the example of Mayor James J. Walker of New York, who recently appeared in a benefit show in his own Manhattan, Ex-Mayor John F. Fitzgerald of Boston, has consented to appear before the footlights in a benefit show to be given soon at the Boston Opera House. "John F." is shown in blackface character, as he rehearsed his part with Miss Peggy, of the dance team, "Bortess and Peggy."

HARRISBURG—"In the shade of the old apple tree" may be just a song in Pennsylvania before long—for the "old apple tree" is vanishing. Apple trees, once an important economic factor in practically every farm in the state, are now almost curiosities.
